Professional Experience

My name is Stacey Wagner and I am originally from South Dakota. I teach in the School of Management MBA program. I teach both mixed mode classes and online. Both formats are exciting and offer benefits for the students.

I spent most of my career working as a software consultant on ERP implementation projects. I worked in this field for 12 years, traveling the US and Canada working with clients.

I moved to Seattle in 2013, ready to leave behind the snowy Midwest and trade it in for Seattle rain! After moving to Seattle, I began working for ADP as an Implementation Project Manager and recently earned my PMP certification.
